Description:

A Bluestocking Guide: Applying the Clipper Ship Strategy is designed to reinforce and enhance a students understanding of the subject matter presented in the primer The Clipper Ship Strategy an Uncle Eric book by Richard J. Maybury. Comprehension Questions are given for each chapter and may include Definition, True/False, and/or Short Answer/Fill-in questions. Answers are located in the back of the study guide. (Note: student answers to some questions/exercises do not always have definitive answers, in which case the notation answers will vary will appear.) Application Exercises are also given. Generally, these ask the student to apply the knowledge he/she learned from a given chapter to real world situations so that the student may personalize the information and better retain and apply the knowledge gained from the primer. Application Exercises typically include Discussion, Essay, and Research assignments. A comprehensive final exam is also included. In addition to assisting the student in the retention of the subject matter, the study guide will serve as documentation of course completion. Timeframe for Study: Bluestocking

Guides are organized to allow the instructor flexibility in designing the ideal course of study for the student. Therefore, there is no right or wrong timeframe for covering the material; the instructor should tailor the study of the primer and study guide to the students unique school schedule, learning style and age. For example, younger students might only complete comprehension exercises in the study guide, whereas older students may complete additional application exercises and suggestions for further reading/study. Ideally, the student should read the chapter from the primer and then immediately answer the corresponding questions in the study guide. For Essay and Research assignments, a project may require several days or weeks to complete. It is best that the instructor preview these assignments to select those most appropriate for the student and the timeframe available. An easy-to-apply rule of thumb for determining length of study is to divide the number of chapters in a primer by the number of weeks the instructor plans to study the subject/book. Some instructors may choose to complete the primer in a few short weeks, in which case multiple chapters may need to be covered for each lesson period. Others may cover the primer over the course of a semester, in which case only one or two chapters per week will need to be assigned. (Note: Chapter lengths vary, so sometimes a student may easily be able to read more than one chapter per lesson.) The key is to move quickly enough so that the student is engaged with learning and also able to absorb all concepts fully. The students performance on end-of-chapter Questions and Assignments from the study guide should be a good indication of this. This guide is 8-1/2 x 11 in size. Description of the primer, The Clipper Ship Strategy: Conventional wisdom says that when the government expands the money supply, the money descends on the economy in a uniform blanket. This is incorrect. The money is injected into specific locations causing hot spots or cones. Mr. Maybury explains a system for tracking and profiting from these cones, for locating genuine money-making opportunities, and for avoiding those which are false or dangerous. Includes step-by-step instructions, and clever illustrations that make the system easy to understand. Explains how to cope with recessions and avoid unemployment. Like all the Uncle Eric books, The Clipper Ship Strategy was written to be able to stand alone. Please note, however, that The Clipper Ship Strategy is the second sequel to Whatever Happened to Penny Candy. The Money Mystery is the first sequel to Whatever Happened to Penny Candy.

This is part of an excellent series of interesting books on economics. I highly recommend using them to teach your children about money.
